

The newly optimized algorithm

In this algorithm, the disk head moving to the position 0 and start from the zero position and has the direction towards the last cylinder, we sort all the cylinders input blocks, Initially the head is at position 0 and sequentially moves and reached from this block to the highest input block number, servicing all the input request blocks in front of the head immediately.

